Education shapes the future, and teachers serve as vital guides. My decision to teach stems from passion and responsibility. I believe education must be student-centered: teachers inspire, guide, and support rather than simply transmit knowledge. Every student has unique potential, and it is our duty to respect differences, nurture strengths, and build confidence. I aim to cultivate independent thinking, a love for lifelong learning, and strong character. Through words and actions, teachers shape values such as respect, responsibility, and cooperation, guiding students to become responsible individuals who contribute positively to society. Teaching is also my journey of fulfillment.
